If accurate, this material resulted from a spill clean-up from the vessel "New Concord" in 1979. Jet-Line was responding to contain and dispose of spill debris under the direction of Mr. Michael Gallen who was a field engineer with the State of New Hampshire, Department of Health.

Jet-Line also produced reclaimed oil which was used for road oiling. Some of this product may have been purchased by the landfill operations. However, Jet-Line has not been able to produce documents pertaining to this activity.
